Many concussions are diagnosed in the emergency room after a fall or accident, or after an incident on an athletic playing field. Others are diagnosed later, when a person who's suffered a head injury seeks medical care for the symptoms. (See Symptoms of a Concussion.) Coaches, athletic trainers and parents of athletes should also be trained to look for signs of concussion, so that they can ...

As a general pediatrician, I see many children whose behaviour and/or development is not emerging as expected. A diagnosis such as autism or learning disability may be the obvious explanation; but frequently it is not so straightforward. Parents come armed with questions about 'processing disorders' and they expect their MD to be knowledgeable.
